MESSAGE FROM THE COLLEGE PRINCIPAL

John Hamey
College Principal

Angela Duckworth, Assistant Professor of Psychology at the University of Pennsylvania, calls for educators and parents to recognise that character is at least as important as intellect.

Her research sits grit, zest, self-control, gratitude, social skills, optimism and curiosity as the fundamentals of robust character development. Moral character embodies ethical values like fairness, generosity and integrity, and performance character includes traits such as effort, diligence and perseverance.

Whether we are referring to everyday interactions or situations that demand courage, the bottom line is that character counts and is a pre-cursor to success later in life.

The achievements we celebrate in the following pages are both a reflection of our students' strong intellect and fine character development.

The Class of 2013 is the embodiment of our school motto, "To Learn, To Heed, To Act".

They have made a remarkable contribution to the cultivation of a positive school culture and we have seen an unprecedented number of students in this cohort participate in leadership and co-curricular activities throughout their senior years at school.

Many of these students have shown real grit in overcoming significant personal challenges in their efforts to make a valuable contribution to the school community, combined with a strong desire to achieve their personal best – often exceeding expectation.

This deserves our celebration and acknowledgement as the measure of our school is far greater than just academic achievement – it must also encapsulate the moral character and integrity of our graduates of which we are enormously proud.

In the Class of 2013, 17 students were noted in the list of top achievers that acknowledges outstanding performance in an individual subject. We also had 15 students participating in acceleration courses and completing units of studies in 2012 with outstanding results in Biology, Mathematics, Hebrew and Dance. This is an exceptional achievement and reflection of the diligent and committed approach so many students demonstrated throughout

'The measure of our school is far greater than just academic achievement – it must also encapsulate the moral character and integrity of our graduates of which we are enormously proud.'

John Hamey, College Principal

the year. It also serves as testimony to the high calibre of our teaching staff and their commitment to educational excellence.

The pages that follow show the diversity of success in this cohort and we extend a hearty Mazal Tov to them on their many and varied successes. I am confident they leave our College with a strong desire to bring about a just world by harnessing their intellect and character for the betterment of others.

Kol Hakavod to the Class of 2013.

Among his accolades, Adam graduates with the Australian Defence Long Tan Leadership and Teamwork Award for 2013, which recognises students who demonstrate leadership and teamwork within both the school and the broader community, displaying strong values such as doing one's best, respect for others and 'mateship.' Her most significant moments at school include the initiatives and programs that she has been involved with in her role as Charity Captain. Although her favourite subject is English, Ilana has proven herself to be an excellent Mathematician, completing Extension 2 Maths as a Year 11 Accelerated student. Ilana says that her formal Jewish education in Hebrew, Jewish Studies and Jewish History, helped to form the foundation of her Jewish identity, while the informal programs such as Counterpoint and travelling to Israel with Band Tour, worked to strengthen that identity and build a connection with Israel. Ilana's Extension 2 Major Work has been shortlisted for the prestigious Young Writers' Showcase, which is a printed anthology of some of the extraordinary short stories, poems, scripts and critical responses submitted for the HSC English Extension 2 course.

WHO WE ARE

Sarah Katz

State Honour Roll

Sarah describes Moriah as a 'community driven school, which embraces the individuality of each of its students.' A student who has truly embraced all the opportunities that the College has to offer, Sarah has shown a commitment to the Jewish Advocacy Program, Prayer Leadership and the Charity Committee and feels that the Israel Study Tour (IST) was a turning point in her life, which enabled her to learn about herself and develop strong relationships with her peers. In the words of one of her teachers 'every teacher deserves a student like Sarah.' This is a true reflection of Sarah's strong work ethic, perseverance and quiet confidence.

Ilan Kessler

A passionate Mathematician, Ilan completed his HSC in Mathematics Extension 2 as an accelerated student in Year 11, allowing him the flexibility to study Maths and Computers at University, while still in Year 12. With a balanced approach to life and a strong desire to succeed in any tasks that he undertakes, Ilan made sure that he followed his interest in Sport alongside his academic pursuits, representing the College in Athletics, Basketball, Soccer and Rugby. Ilan is renowned for his willingness to advise and help others and he is already well on the way to success, having made an original mathematical discovery and also developing his own iPhone app.

Shardi Cleminson

Shardi describes Moriah as a 'close-knit school in which you feel like you are part of a family.' A generous and motivated student, Shardi has made a valuable contribution to the life of the school through the numerous committees that she has been involved in and her commitment to participating in service learning programs and community service initiatives. This earned her the 2013 Prize for Valuable Community Service. Shardi says that she will miss the close relationships that she has formed with her teachers and her advice to younger students is to 'take it easy, don't stress, enjoy the time you have at school and take all the opportunities that come your way.'

Kobe Marks

A talented scientist, Kobe successfully secured a highly competitive position at the National Youth Science Forum in Canberra and was also a member of a Moriah team, which reached the National Finals of the Future Problem Solving Competition three times. Kobe's major contribution to the life of the College was his creation of a Year 12 Middle School Mentoring Program, demonstrating his persistence and determination as well as his ability to work well as part of a team. His advice to the Class of 2014 focuses on Moriah's dedicated teaching staff: 'Your teachers only want the best for you,' says Kobe. 'Don't be afraid to ask them for help if you need it. They make the HSC all the more easier.'

Ryan Schiff

Ryan says that it's the sense of community associated with the school that makes Moriah unique and 'as a student at the College, you know that you are a part of the entire Jewish Community, not just Moriah.' A conscientious and dedicated student, Ryan completed Year 12 Biology as an accelerated student in Year 11 and was also a member of the team, which competed in the International Future Problem Solving competition in the USA. Alongside his studies, Ryan has made the most of his opportunities at Moriah, participating in various activities including the Jewish Advocacy Program, Music Festival and the Year 12 Formal Committee.
